

Lisa Boesen, MAOM, CMC

Speaker, Author, Coach, Beekeeper

Lisa's passion in life is all about sharing her dominant gifts – energy, insight and organization, or as colleagues and clients describe, she can “color-code chaos.” With over 35 years of healthcare clinical management and human resources expertise, Lisa's background includes recruitment, employee and leadership development, workforce planning and development, career management, and quality improvement. She has designed and implemented clinical and HR talent management programs, designed and delivered customer service and leadership development training targeting specific organization business outcomes.

As a versatile speaker, Lisa enjoys sharing her many “lives” and “experiences” from catching a shark and beekeeping, to designing competencies tools in the HR world. From college students discussing finance and career management and seniors who want to Create a 3D Life, to executives wanting to add coaching as a tool to improve communication, manage change and meet business goals, Lisa comes to the podium with a breadth and depth of experience and creativity to motivate and engage audiences of all ages and backgrounds. Regardless of whether your group size is 25 or 2500, Lisa discovers a way for your audience to leave with new thoughts, new actions, and a belief in accomplishing the seemingly impossible.

She holds a Masters in Organizational Management and is a Certified Master Coach. She specializes in healthcare, small business, not-for-profit organizations, senior organizations, as well as individual clients. She has been featured in Advance Magazine, Medical Office Today, Mainstreet, The Ladders and ICU Medicine.

What People Say:

“Lisa spoke to home childcare providers and preschool/center teaching professionals. She addressed the topic of “Care Time for the Early Childhood Professional.” She discussed identifying signs of stress and compassion burnout for childcare providers. She also demonstrated relaxation techniques. Presentation was interactive and she provided useful handout. She was full of positive energy and very knowledgeable. Exactly what we wanted!”

Stacey Zink
ECLLPS Coordinator, Sterling CO

“Working with Lisa was a pleasure. I solicited her for a presentation for my organization. She is very professional and was responsive to my many requests for information as I coordinated the event with my colleagues. Her actual presentation was great. She is clearly knowledgeable in the topic area. I would recommend her to others.”

Elinor Gallelli, ISSM
APHIS, Fort Collins, CO

“Lisa presented “Building Bridges – Using Compassion to Cross Conflict Chasms” at our March chapter meeting. The presentation was wonderful, held our attention and provided our members ideas on how to process work conflict situations to our advantage. The feedback was excellent and the members enjoyed the interaction and sharing. The tips provided were quick to implement by our members. It was one of our best evening sessions!”

Betty Berney, CAP, President -West Houston Chapter – IAAP

“Lisa is a great speaker and expert on estate management and coaching. She did a fabulous and lively presentation for our Get Organized Month. She took what can be a tough topic and delivered valuable information in a sensitive, relatable way. By sharing her own story of dealing with her parents’ estate, she earned her audience's trust.”
